PRESIDENT CREDITS PRESS FOR CORDIAL STATUS OF AMERICAS

Newspapers Praised At Journalistic Meet Wednesday

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The press of North and South America are responsible for the future of Pan-American cordiality, President Coolidge told the Pan-American Congress of Journalism at their first meeting here today.

Regretting the "unfortunate lack of information" which has existed in the newspapers of the two continents concerning conditions in the other continent, the President foresaw a strong and lasting bond in the improvement and expansion of news services operating through the Americas and predicted a perfect understanding between the new nationals of this hemisphere through the medium of the press.

"Some one has remarked there was a time when readers of our newspapers here might have imagined that revolutions and volcanic disturbances were the chief product of Latin-America," President Coolidge declared.

"On the other hand the readers of Latin-American papers got little idea of our national life from the accounts of train wrecks, lynchings and divorces, which it is said constituted the principal news printed there about our country."

"That day has passed. Since 1916, due to our increased cable facilities and the reduction of cable tolls, as well as a keen desire for more information, the amount of news exchanged between the Americas has been increased greatly, and its character is more constructive."

"I venture the prediction that as a result of this congress the papers in the United States in the future will present more complete and more accurate pictures of the cultural and industrial progress of Latin-America and that the press of those republics will give to their readers a better understanding of the ideals and purposes of the United States."

The President praised the South American press, declaring that our Latin-American newspaper, "approached a university" for its great amount of service in cultural and scientific endeavors.

Throughout the address the President upheld the rights of free speech and a free press.

"A free and enlightened press becomes one of the safeguards of liberty," he declared. "It is the function of a free press not only to make truth available to every one within its sphere, but to cherish and develop a public sentiment for all that is loyal to the truth."

The address ended with an expression of hope that the congress would become a permanent institution.

"The first congress was a fine idea," he said. "I hope it will achieve all that its promoters could wish. It seems to me it would be well if your gathering could be repeated periodically, possibly alternating between Latin-America and the United States. Such meetings cannot fail to have far-reaching consequences."

The President spoke highly of educational and cultural progress in Latin America and also of development of commercial relations between North and South America.

MODERNISTS WIN MAYORALTY RACE

CLARENCE, Mo., April 7.—Modernists elected their candidate, J. C. Maupin, in a mayoralty election here in which the virgin birth of Christ was an issue.

The fundamentalist candidate, L. J. Peterman, drew only 255 votes to his opponent's 365. Maupin, formerly a Baptist minister, aroused intense feeling when he announced during the campaign that he was a modernist. The election was one of the most fiercely contested, the town has ever seen.

Peterman, a retired farmer, was advanced because of his conservative, fundamentalist views.

POLICE SEEKING "RADIO RAFFLES"

NEW YORK, April 7.—The largest force of police ever assigned to the Borough of Queens has patrolled the streets there for the last 24 hours in a vain effort to find trace of the "Radio Raffles," described as an "absolutely fearless gentlemanly burglar."

The robber, who is credited with the theft of scores of radio sets and jewelry within recent weeks, has become a killer. Patrolman Arthur Kenny, one of the four policemen shot by the burglar in his night prowling, is dead from wounds sustained on March twenty-fifth.

The other wounded patrolmen were Jacob Beigler, Frank Donnelly and Charles McCarthy.

In each shooting the burglar, who was soft spoken and well dressed, disarmed the suspicion of the officer before firing a bullet.

SAYS PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT NOT TRIED IN NEW YORK

Jurymen Bribe To Thwart Justice Says Attorney

By United Press

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Prohibition enforcement has never yet been attempted in New York, Federal District Attorney Buckner told the senate subcommittee today.

"I don't know whether prohibition could be enforced in New York," Buckner said. "Judicial procedure is such that it cannot be tried now."

It was a startling picture he painted of conditions in the metropolis. He charged that "fixers" were trafficking in justice openly in the federal building in New York.

"In the course of a year at least 50,000 bartenders, peddlers, waiters and fixers pass through the corridors of that building," he added.

"There is an air of collusion there, even in the civil parts of the building."

"I have been told that jurymen have been bribed in the toilets of the building."

"What do you mean by fixers?" Reed, Democrat, Missouri, asked.

"I mean those who traffic in justice; those who hang around the corridors of the building and buy jurymen and with money influence the memory of witnesses."

Buckner severely criticized the system whereby prohibition agents were promoted according to the number of arrests they made—whether they were good arrests or not.

"Such a system for the promotion of inefficiency cannot be equalled," Buckner said.

The police commissioner in New York is receiving 15,000 complaints a month—180,000 complaints a year—from citizens against violation of the prohibition law, Buckner said.

"They are mostly from neighbors," he said. "They cannot be overlooked. But it takes a lot of men to investigate them."

The committee held a whispered conference at this point and decided that night sessions should be held beginning tonight to permit the wets to present their case.

Buckner said that 9,000 unhandled cases were pending when he took office and 3,000 were prohibition cases. The calendar was two years behind," he said.

Buckner did not originate the padlock system. There were 200 or 300 cases pending at the time he took office.

"I think it is better to padlock a restaurant or place of business instead of arresting a waiter," Buckner said. "In thirteen months we have padlocked more than five hundred places of all kinds."

CLEVELAND, O., April 7.—In a petition signed by postmasters and forwarded today to the federal Postoffice Department, night air mail service from Louisville, Ky., to Cleveland is asked. Under the proposed plan stops are planned at Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus and Akron.

ly dropped from the picture, however, is Chapman's mysterious sister, who came into Hartford for a few moments yesterday to see her erring brother buried and then sped away—her name and her place of residence unrevealed.

Whoever she is, she has been swallowed up completely.

It will be several days before anything is done in the case of Walter Shean, Chapman's confederate, who turned state's evidence against Chapman. He remains in jail awaiting the pleasure of Hugh M. Alcorn, the prosecutor.

Charges of murder and robbery are against him.

DAVIS SAID TO BE CANDIDATE

Rumor Ex-Governor Will Again Seek Republican Nomination—Knight Also Expected To Toss Hat In Ring

COLUMBUS, O., April 7.—Political circles moved cautiously today, co-incidental with persistent rumors that former governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, will become a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Of no less importance to dominant political sachems, was the announcement that former Congressman Charles L. Knight of Akron, also will announce his candidacy for the nomination.

Both Davis and Knight were the nomination and be elected, but that he is not inclined at this time to enter the race.

Some of his followers placed credence in the report that Davis will align with some other outstanding candidate in an effort to dictate who shall be the party nominee.

As to Knight's candidacy, it is only a matter of days until his candidacy is formally announced, it was believed.

The way to Knight's candidacy, it was pointed out, has been cleared by withdrawal of Carmi Thompson, of Cleveland, who will head a Coolidge mission to the Philippine Islands.

The only obstacle the Akron publisher now faces, it was said, is the concerted opposition of other Republican gubernatorial aspirants or the opposition of machines which may combine to bring about his defeat.

Davis' political observers declare, is prepared to launch an intensive obstructionist campaign against the Knight forces should he (Davis) decide against running for the nomination.

Political leaders, with no exception, scoffed at the possibility that Davis and Knight might align and through their alliance put a strong candidate into the field.

Davis conferred with his supporters behind closed doors, last night according to semi-official reports circulated about the state house.

Should Davis definitely decide may enter the field in opposition against the gubernatorial race, he to Frank B. Willis, for the senatorial nomination, it was declared.

Stanton, who recently caused Ayer to submit his resignation, declared the former justice has refused, in compliance with an order of the court, to submit his books and records for an examination and added that Ayer will be required to divulge their contents before the grand jury.

Ayer and other Cuyahoga County justices have been charged with alleged extortion and other offenses in the operations of their courts.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Rep. William T. Fitzgerald of Greenville sued for $50,000 damages by Chas. R. Smith, Jr., an eight year old boy because of an auto accident, denied responsibility in an answer filed in court here today.

The boy through his attorneys alleged the congressman was driving on the wrong side of the street near the house office building, February 6, when the machine struck the boy's wagon, dragging him about sixty feet.

Fitzgerald declared in his answer he had just dodged a group of children who were playing on the street when the Smith lad in his wagon scooted down a driveway leading from the house office building and ran under his car.

XENIANS HURT WHEN THREE AUTOS CRASH ALONG DAYTON PIKE

Misses Lena Bales and Ruth Arment Cut—Probe Starts

Two persons were injured and seven others shaken up in a triple auto collision on the bridge west of L. W. Duellman's filling station at Rest Haven Park, on the Dayton and Xenia Pike Tuesday night at 9 o'clock.

Miss Lena Bales, Hook Road, sustained cuts on both legs and a dislocated finger on her left hand, while Miss Ruth Arment, Chestnut St., was cut about the face and legs.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughn investigated with Special Deputy Sheriff Oliver Belden. They said the accident occurred when a touring car driven by Benjamin Park, 127 S. Horton St., Dayton, sideswiped a machine driven by Robert Fletcher, colored, 631 Randolph St., Dayton, and then crashed head-long into a sedan driven by Miss Bales.

The Park auto was being driven toward Dayton and the Fletcher car, occupied by three men and one woman, all colored and the Bales car were headed toward Xenia.

Park, his wife and young son, and occupants of the Fletcher car also escaped injury although the three machines were partially wrecked.

Miss Bales and Miss Arment were treated at the filling station, by a physician summoned from Dayton, and were afterwards removed to their homes by Deputy Sheriff Baughn. Their conditions are not serious.

Drivers of the three automobiles are scheduled to appear at the sheriff's office sometime Wednesday for questioning by Deputy Baughn, in an effort to fix blame for the accident.

An arrest may follow.

GERMAN PALACE ONLY CASTLE OF DREAMS AFFIDAVIT DISCLOSES

COLUMBUS, O., April 7.—Even though Roy K. Bowman was a lowly rubber in a Turkish bath, he still had the consummate savvy to pose as a "big butter and egg man" and marry two women with wonderful promises of diamonds, fur coats, castles in Germany and commodious motor cars. But his glib tongue today had caused his downfall, according to police.

It was on the evidence of Mrs. Catherine Peterson, Lesser than Fernie Rogers, musical comedy prima donna, today filed an affidavit in court here charging "D.D." Bowman with bigamy, Miss Rogers while appearing in Columbus with Ed. Wynn in the "Grab Bag" was wooed furiously and intensively by Bowman, who posed to her as a prominent and influential Berlin surgeon, promised to take her back to Germany and see her as the mistress of his Berlin castle.

But Bowman is now in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on a charge of defrauding the hotel where he and Miss Rogers spent their brief honeymoon, cut of $193 room rent.

Mrs. Marie Bayer, Newark, N. J., sister of Bowman's first wife (who was then known as Lesser) today disclosed how Bowman courted her sister in another fast and furious courtship.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO MURDER PREMIER AT SURGEONS' MEETING

Bullet Penetrates Cartilage Of Nose Of Victim

By United Press

ROME, April 7.—Premier Mussolini was shot and slightly wounded by an aged woman today as he left the city hall, where he had addressed the congress of the International Surgeons Association.

The bullet penetrated the cartilage of the premier's nose.

Leaping from the crowd which had gathered to see the premier depart, the woman fired at short range. The crowd surged forward to seize her, but she was saved from summary punishment and was placed in jail.

The premier maintained his composure and immediately gave orders to prevent public commotion as a result of the attempt against his life. A large crowd had gathered around the building to see the premier depart, and the would-be assassin was among them.

Mussolini has been the object of would-be assassins plots since October 1922, when he organized and led the spectacular fascist march on Rome, which unseated the existing government and placed Mussolini in office as Premier.

Mussolini erected a Fascist state. In the creation of his new government, Mussolini found bitter opposition and in the early days the rise of fascism was marked with continued violence. Fascist opponents were attacked and beaten. The approved fascist manner of convincing a politician that opposition was useless was to seize him, force a large dose of castor oil down his throat and then parade him through the streets.

Last autumn Mussolini was in the shadow of death from a plot to assassinate him. He was scheduled to speak from the balcony of the Chigi Palace, and on the morning of his appearance a former army officer engaged a room in a hotel across the square. A few hours before Mussolini appeared on a balcony in full view from the window of the hotel room, police entered the hotel, arrested the officer and seized an Austrian equipped with telescope sights.

The officer confessed. He had been betrayed by a peasant whom he had entrusted with his secret. The trial and virtual acquittal last month of Americo D'Onofrio and four other fascists charged with the murder in June, 1924, of the socialist deputy Giacomo Matteotti, re-aroused the opposition clamor against Mussolini's repression.

Matteotti died while a captive in the automobile of the five fascists on the eve of a speech in the chamber of deputies, in which he had planned to launch a powerful attack against fascism.

Three defendants were sentenced to terms in prison which will expire in June and the other two were acquitted. Matteotti's widow refused to have anything to do with the trial, because she said it would not be fairly conducted.

Mussolini's opponents outside Italy prophesied when the Matteotti verdicts were announced that they would be the death knell of fascism in Italy.

COMMON ERRORS IN GRAMMAR ARE TOLD XENIA KIWANIS

Common grammatical mistakes in speaking and writing were pointed out to Xenia Kiwanians by the Rev. Father B. F. Kuhlman, Dayton, at the Goody Shoppe, Tuesday evening.

"Mastering English" was the title of the subject and he stressed the importance of using proper grammar. He deplored the diffidence of Americans in their choice of English and their hesitancy in selecting the right phrases. He recommended the Codd course, "Excellence in English" and daily perusal of a newspaper.

"Newspaper writers have a larger vocabulary than the ordinary writer and their writings can be helpful in learning concise English," he said.

The speaker commended the Bible, both the King James version and the Rheims version in correct phrasing and beautiful wording. Moulton's "The Bible as Literature" was also cited as a guide in writing and talking.

The Rev. Father Kuhlman pointed out the hindrance in the development of expression. The novices and the vaudeville stage were particularly harmful to correct grammar, he said. This is true because they take much of many people's time from the leisure in which they could read and improve their vocabulary.

Growth of profanity in ordinary

conversation was deplored by the speaker.

Report of the Dayton Kiwanis meeting attended by several Xenia club members was given by C. E. Arbogast. Announcement was made of "Ladies' Night," April 20 when the club will entertain twenty Springfield Kiwanians and their wives at dinner and dance at Central High School. The party will be one of the largest on the club program for the year.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with

CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, and she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with

PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for

MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas. Mary goes with Will to spend the week end with his brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Virginia Crandall. Old Mr. Crandall is taken ill, and Will and Jim return to town. Mary goes to the beach with Virginia and there meets Cecilia again. Mary hears from Pat Hamilton, who says that if she will do some stenographic work for him she can cancel her debt to him. She returns to New York.

TODAY'S INSALMENT

XL—THE TANGLE GROWS WORSE

MARY smiled happily to herself as she settled down in the train that was to take her back to New York. She could have shouted with joy when she realized that she was going to be able to pay the money she owed Hamilton through her own efforts. She felt sure that Will's father would never—never—now, with things going so well, he just couldn't do anything else!

And then she and Will would be married, and Will's parents would accept her, as they had accepted his brother's wife, finally, and every thing would be wonderful! Her own happiness made her feel more confident every moment.

When she reached town she hurried to her own rooming house and telephoned Pat Hamilton.

"Oh, you're in town now? Fine—I didn't think you could get here so soon," he answered. "Come right up to my hotel, will you? I'm all ready to go to work. Just ask for my room—I'll tell them at the desk that I'm expecting you."

Mary did not like the idea of going to his room at the hotel; she had never done such a thing as that, and she was embarrassed now at the thought of doing so. But this was business, she reminded herself. No doubt he had a suite of rooms, and transacted all his work there. And, of course, in New York it was an accepted thing for a girl to go to a man's apartment—she remembered hearing someone tell of some girls they knew who were newspaper women, who interviewed people just anywhere.

"I'm squeamish, I suppose," Mary said to herself. "I've been brought up to be an old-fashioned girl, and I've just got to get used to new ways of doing things. It'll be all right."

Nevertheless she felt very nervous as she walked into the hotel lobby and asked if Mr. Patrick Hamilton was in.

"Oh, yes, he's here—number 1104," the man at the desk answered. "Are you Miss Waite? You can go right up, then—he's expecting you."

Mary blushed hotly. She wished that she had given an assumed name, had asked Hamilton not to tell the man at the desk who she was. Not that anybody knew her, of course—but she'd rather nobody knew she was going there!

Hamilton greeted her warmly. "Glad to see you again!" he exclaimed. "Now, tell me what you were doing down at Beechurst—tell me all about it. Your landlady told me you were at the Crandalls."

Reluctantly Mary told him that she had been staying with Will's brother and sister-in-law.

"Sounds pretty intimate and friendly," he remarked. "There was a deep frown between his eyes. 'Getting acquainted with all the family, eh? Tell me, Mary—is this young Crandall losing his head over you?'"

"Oh, don't talk of such things!" Mary exclaimed. "Can't we get to work at once on this confidential job you were telling me about over the phone?"

"Curiously, eh?" he laughed. "Now, remember, you're not to tell anybody anything about it. It's strictly private."

He picked up some papers that lay on a desk nearby, but did not get to work at once, as Mary hoped. Instead, he telephoned a railroad office for some reservations, telephoned several telegrams, and then as he turned to Mary again, the phone rang and he spent some time talking to a friend, not on business apparently, but merely for pleasure.

Mary wondered why he had been so anxious for her to hurry into town. She was eager to go home; if Will telephoned her again at Virginia's, and heard that she was in town, no doubt he would try to reach her by phone at her rooming house, or would go there. She would have to explain why she was not there, where she was. He would be wild if she told him that his telling her that Hamilton was not the sort of man for her to know.

"And Will's never had to face the world alone; he doesn't know what it is to have to depend absolutely on yourself," she reflected. "He won't understand that I just have to earn money when I can—that I absolutely had to let Mr. Hamilton lend money to me—he just won't understand!"

"You mustn't call him!"

She walked restlessly about the room, while he went on talking over the phone. At last he turned to her. "I've had nothing to eat all day—had a headache and couldn't eat," he said. "Now, before we get to work I'll have to have some supper sent up here. Sorry to detain you so long."

"Oh, I just can't wait any longer here!" Mary cried. "I thought you wanted me to do some work for you at once, but you don't, and Will—"

She hadn't meant to mention Will's name, was sorry the moment she spoke it that she had. Pat Hamilton turned to her sharply.

"Oh, it's Will, is it? Well, I'll call him up and tell him."

"No, you won't call him—you mustn't!" Mary cried, and as he reached for the phone she threw both arms around him to prevent his moving. "You mustn't call Will up—I don't want you to."

Hamilton stared at her in amazement, then began to laugh softly. "Afraid of what I'll tell him?" he asked. "Afraid I'll give him information you don't want him to have? Really, Mary, you're amusing. So you're after young Crandall?"

"I'm not! Will and I are engaged but I don't want him to know that I let you lend me money," she answered bitterly. "I can earn it and pay you back, but I just don't want to tell him, that's all."

Hamilton, still laughing, walked over to the window.

"Well, if I tell him you won't have to," he answered.

Tomorrow—Heart-breaking Moments.

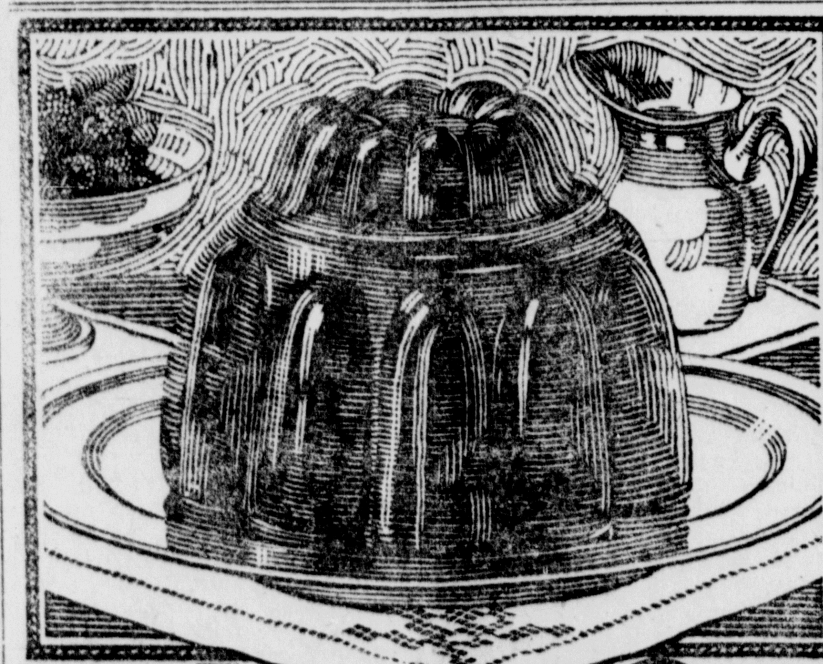

When the demon Rust enters, it's "good bye fence"! Quality of steel and manufacturer's claims have no effect on this active enemy.

Hence the care that is devoted to the galvanizing of Kokomo Pioneer Fence—to keep rust out. The most modern, the most approved methods are used and the heavy coating is 99 1/2 per cent pure zinc. That means protection. That means Rust, which eats the life out of steel, can not enter to "do its dirt." You are assured of a GOOD fence for a longer period of time than you ever thought possible.

PLAINTIFF IN DAMAGE ACTION RESTS CASE WEDNESDAY IN COURT

Plaintiff's counsel rested its case shortly before the noon recess Wednesday in the $5,000 damage suit of Marshal William A. Schneider, Osborn, against Constable Sidney M. Cornelius, Bath Twp., being tried in Common Pleas Court.

First of seven witnesses subpoenaed by the defendant testified late Wednesday morning. Following arguments to the jury, the trial was expected to end late in the afternoon, with the outcome in the hands of four women and eight men jurors.

Twenty witnesses for the marshal were heard Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Marshal Schneider testified Tuesday afternoon giving his own version of the election day encounter between himself and the constable last November 3, which resulted in his own arrest, dismissal of charges against the Cornelius family and the damage suit.

His testimony was the feature of the afternoon session which was otherwise devoid of interest. The trouble between the pair was once more aired in court, only this time with positions reversed.

Schneider enacting the role of plaintiff with Cornelius the defendant.

The marshal repeated his story told at the recent trial at which he was acquitted of a charge of resisting an officer. He entered a blanket denial of previous accusations of resisting the constable's efforts to arrest two men for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

He also claimed to have been roughly handled in the quarrel by Cornelius.

The marshal was later subjected to a grilling cross-examination for an hour by Attorney Morris D. Rice, city solicitor of the village of Osborn, and associated with At-

SCENIC WONDERLAND

For the preservation of the primeval Great Smoky mountains on the border line of Tennessee and North Carolina as a national park and public playground these two states have raised more than $1,000,000 and will ask the rest of the country to aid them in securing the $4,000,000 balance of the purchase price. If these virgin forests and unmapped mountains can be purchased by public subscription the federal government will maintain them and open them, through the means of good roads, to the general public.

Saving of the Great Smokies has inspired numerous articles in recent issues of magazines and reviews, one of them describing these mountains as "the last of the eastern wilderness." If not made public property within the next few years this "last wilderness" will vanish like the others before the onslaught of the lumberman's axe.

Until about ten years ago Great Smokies were virtually unknown. Within the black depths of its forests there are gulfs and gorges never visited by man. Even the mountain-eer squatter in the foothills does not roam these peaks and ridges, mysteriously vague behind the haze from which they derive their name. Seven of the capital peaks, all higher than any in the Blue Ridge mountains, are still unnamed and large areas of the range have never been surveyed.

As a national park the Great Smokies are destined to become as famous and popular as the Yellowstone, Yosemite and other great national reservations. The East now has but one national park, Lafayette National Park on Mt. Desert Island on the coast of Maine, but its park system will rival that of the West with the addition of the proposed Shenandoah park in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia and of the Great Smokies.

PREMEDITATION

IF A MAN kills in a fit of anger or sudden outburst of rage, under the laws of most states that is murder in the second degree. If the slaying was deliberate and premeditated, that is first degree murder, and carries a different penalty.

The law recognizes distinctions in crimes and in circumstances surrounding them. The crime is assumed to be worse if it is planned and considered beforehand.

By the same token a distinction should be made between kinds of good deeds. There is the generous action done with a flourish, on the spur of the moment, without thinking of consequences. There is also the noble act consummated after deliberation and thought, which often requires courage and strength of mind.

Good deeds are not yet made amendable to law, but observers of the human comedy might try to discriminate among them nevertheless. They are of several kinds, and circumstances are of many sorts.

COUNTING THE MERCHANTS

THE setting up of permanent machinery for the purpose of promoting a census of distribution, similar to a census of manufacturers, has been authorized by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The task will be undertaken by a special committee, of which Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board of the General Electric Company, is chairman and F. M. Feiker, of the Society for Electrical Development, is vice-chairman. The personnel of the committee will be virtually the same as that which considered the same subject for the National Distribution Conference.

The committee will take up the question with the Department of Commerce and other government agencies as a first step. With a few changes in existing census schedules, it is believed, the necessary information can be obtained.

The move reflects the changing attitude of business toward its activities. Hitherto attention has been centered upon production. Much is known of manufacturing but little information is available concerning distribution; and this information is necessary to maintain the business equilibrium. How much is produced is only a partial answer to the question business is asking. It also wants to know, how much is sold or can be sold. To this end it wants a count of the merchants of the country together with information as to the amount of their sales comparable to the information, now available, concerning production.

BIG AMERICANS WANTED

THERE was nothing about him of the small American," said President Coolidge of George Washington, thus coining a new phrase which provides a standard by which we may measure public men and policies. Coolidge paid this tribute to the breadth of Washington's mind:

"No man clung more tenaciously to what he believed was right, or was prepared to make greater sacrifices in its support. But he viewed the right as a universal principle to be applied not only to himself but to others, not only to his own state, but to the nation, not only to his countrymen, but to foreigners."

He set a straight and narrow standard for our statesmen who feel inclined to exploit national or international problems for their personal aggrandizement, and thus brand themselves as "small Americans."

Too many of us seek laws for the special privilege and enrichment of our own states or sections of the country, lacking to see that the greatness of Our Country arises from the common interest of all its people.

Washington stands as the greatest American, because he renounced the glory of a kingly crown to build a free republic on principles so sound and broad that we can stand before the world as an example for other nations, and help the world establish higher ideals for all humanity whenever there is opportunity.

DELICIOUS WAFFLES

One of the Column Readers writes that she has bought an electric waffle iron but does not know how to use it. She cannot possibly fail to make delicious waffles if she follows these directions:

Most electric waffle irons do not need to be greased. This is especially true where the waffle recipe calls for plenty of butter (as my recipe does). But usually a new electric waffle iron comes with directions stating that it is best to give it one greasing before using it, then connect iron with electricity and let heat for ten minutes before making the first waffle.

Two-Egg Waffles: I believe that really delicious waffles require two eggs—unless you make only one or two waffles (cutting recipe in half). When I make them in my own electric waffle iron, I begin by putting two cups of ordinary bread flour into my flour-sifter with one teaspoon of salt, three teaspoons of baking

Gas Causes a Serious Condition

Brooklyn Mr. O. H. H. writes: "I want you to know that no day passed for months that did not find my stomach bloated with gas and shooting pains through my stomach. I felt hungry at times but as soon as I started eating I became bilious. My tongue was coated and I always had a bad taste. I never thought this could all be from constipation. It must have been for the very first day after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills I felt fine. Carter's Little Liver Pills move the bowels free from pain. Drugists, 25 & 75c red packages."

LETTER WRITING

The modern letter writing style Saves time and care and money. Your business man lacks space to file Epistles sad or funny; And when I write to Dick and Co. I waste no thought in levity, I ask them what I wish to know Politely, but with brevity; But now and then with pen and ink

For friends I honor greatly I like to tell them all I think And all that's happened lately.

I like to let my phrases flow As though we were out walking. Two friends who'd found an hour or so

To spend in idle talking. I like to wander here and there Wherever fancy leads me And gather something everywhere To interest him who reads me. I like to set a chuckle in To dull the edge of worry, And let him know as I begin That I'm not in a hurry.

These business letters short and terse Blurt out their missions briefly, I know no form of writing worse, 'Tis done for dollars chiefly; They seem like men intent on gain, Too busy to be kindly, Deaf to a shout of joy or pain And passing beauty blindly;

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

BELLBROOK

Bellbrook is a historic little village tucked down in the old hills of Sugarcreek Twp., one mile west of the Little Miami River.

First settler of the locality which later became incorporated into the town was Joseph C. Vance. He entered the land extending along the east side of Main St., then a mere path called Pinkney Road. Settling in the spring of 1797, he erected the log cabin on the site which later became the southeast corner of Main and Walnut Sts.

Following Vance came James Snoden who later became an associate judge of the county. He settled in 1799. James Clancey, another of the early settlers of Bellbrook, came there prior to 1803.

When the county was laid out into townships in 1803, the town ordered that the first election of the following June in Sugarcreek Twp., be held in the home of James Clancey.

Henry Odyke and Stephen Bell became residents of the township in 1814 and bought land comprising the western portion of the village from James Snoden in 1815 when the old judge moved away from the county. Odyke, Bell and Clancey are credited with conceiving the idea of laying out a town on this site.

Tradition is to the effect considerable difficulty was encountered in choosing a name for the new village and among names suggested were "Odykevill" and "Clanceyville." Finally Odyke suggested "Bellbrook" which met with instant approval.

First part of the name is derived from the name of one of the residents, Stephen Bell and the latter part comes from the fact Little Sugar Creek curves around the southwestern corner of the village.

Modish Mitzi-Studies of a Zoological or a Fashionable Nature? BY J.W. JAY

"What's this?" asks Mitzi's young friend thirsting for knowledge, as she looks through her animal book. "That," replies Mitzi, "is a lizard. You know... a lizard... just like the skin that makes my pocket book and the handle of my umbrella." The child, it seems, is getting a lesson in fashion rather than zoology.

"An alligator," forestalls Mitzi. "Is a long animal, very fashionable this season and mostly used for shoes. I have a new pair right here." "Oh, oh," says the child, "oh." Which is perhaps just as good a comment as any for a child who is brought up after the most modern methods of education.

Aunt Sophia is really surprised that Mitzi is getting on so well with the youngsters. She seems to be able to talk to children. "Now a snail," explains Mitzi, "is the shade of Aunt Sophia's stockings. It's a new shade." Which shows that Mitzi knows about the pressing the Young Mind with the association of ideas—and up-to-date ones at that!

Today's Talk

THE PRAYER OF ONE DISTURBED

Like the leader in a frightened flock, with the clouds gathering fast and the day darkening, and the wind growing furious—that is the way I feel, God, and so I have rushed to You who are able and full of understanding.

Gather me to You in Your strong arms, God. Nobody is around—just You and Your creation. I am so disturbed. This impulsive makeup has overstepped itself. In its anxiety to climb just a little higher, do a little more good, find a little more beauty, it ran too fast—and so now it's all mixed up—frightened like the troubled sheep.

But, like the Shepherd of the sheep, whose soul is always stronger than the instinct of the dumb which He tends, please, God, pay attention to me!

Soothe with Your understanding, warm with Your sympathy, lift up with Your love. You see, God, I really need You more than I even know myself.

For the frightened never quite realize their danger. If they did, they might be braver. But, being confused, and much lost to themselves, they flounder, and then have to run to someone who is strong enough to bring them back to themselves—and place them upon higher ground. Don't You see, God? And don't You see that this plea is the one who needs so greatly?

Press me just a trifle tighter to Your heart, God. Let me feel the impulse of Your superior spirit. Quiet this throbbing pulse, and give sleep to these restless nerves.

TWO FAMOUS WOMEN BORN IN SAME YEAR

Queen Victoria and Lydia E. Pinkham

MRS. ANNA MC HENRY 1005 E. PLUM STREET, MARSHALL, ILLINOIS

In the year 1819, two babies were born whose lives were destined to have a far-reaching influence. One was born in a stern castle of Old England, the other in a humble farmhouse in New England.

Queen Victoria through her wisdom and kindness during a long and prosperous reign has become enthroned in the hearts of the British people. Lydia E. Pinkham through the merit of her Vegetable Compound has made her name a household word in thousands of American homes.

Marshall, Illinois.—"After my second child was born, I never saw a well day for five years. My father was telling his druggist about my condition, and the druggist insisted that father take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have me try it, as it had helped his wife. I had given up, but to please father and mother, I commenced taking your medicine and in a week I had begun to feel better. When I passed through the Change of Life, I was taking the Vegetable Compound and I had no trouble of any kind."—Mrs. ANNA MC HENRY, 1005 E. Plum St., Marshall, Illinois.

Another Woman Helped

Philadelphia, Penna.—Mrs. Caroline Nagy, of 2717 Sears St., in a recent letter to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., says that after her child was born she was in a very weak condition. She could not seem to regain her health and went to her mother for advice. She told her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it had helped her when in like condition, and it has helped her mother also. So Mrs. Nagy started taking it. She felt better after taking the first bottle, after taking six bottles her weakness and other troubles disappeared, and she is never done praising the Compound.

In some families the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Keep Pimples away

WHY do you let those unsightly pimples, black heads and blotches disgrace your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build up just like it puts firm flesh on you—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system.

Just try it and see for yourself! All druggists sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Aunt Sophia is really surprised that Mitzi is getting on so well with the youngsters. She seems to be able to talk to children. "Now a snail," explains Mitzi, "is the shade of Aunt Sophia's stockings. It's a new shade." Which shows that Mitzi knows about the pressing the Young Mind with the association of ideas—and up-to-date ones at that!

SWEDISH STUDENTS WIN HUGE FORTUNE BY NEW INVENTION

STOCKHOLM (UP) April 7.—The happy idea of combining two simple gases in a new kind of artificial refrigerator which generates cold from heat without movable parts has made two young graduates of the Royal Swedish Institute of Technology seem like heroes of a tale from the Arabian Nights.

Last year the Swedish Polhem gold medal, which has been awarded to inventors only eleven times in the past fifty years, was pinned by the Crown Prince himself on the youthful chests of Carl G. Munster and Baltzar von Platen, the first born in 1897 and the second in 1898, and now their invention has been sold abroad for the highest figure ever paid for patent rights.

The stars of the two young inventors, added to future royalties, will make them wealthy for life, though their invention has not yet reached the public. Their teacher at the Institute of Technology, Prof. Edward Hubendick, in whose laboratory they experimented with their first invention while still undergraduates, has announced that they are working on another invention which he declares will be even more startling, but he refuses to disclose its nature.

FORMER XENIAN IS VISITING RELATIVE

After an absence of eighteen years, C. W. Galligher, of Colorado Springs, Colo., former Xenian, is in Xenia for a few days for a short visit with his father-in-law, J. Hal Matthews, W. Main St.

Mr. Galligher is stopping in Xenia on his return from Toledo, O., where he participated in the American Bowling Congress in progress in that city. He was a member of the City of Sunshine quintet, of Colorado Springs, which placed sixteenth in the five-man division of the tournament with a three-game total of 2,857. More than 1,700 teams representing all parts of the country took part in the meet.

One member of the team also rolled more than 700 in the singles to place high in the individual standing.

The team is returning to its home city but expects to roll a number of exhibition matches on the trip. Mr. Galligher lived in Xenia all his life before moving away in 1908 but is well known to many Xenians.

Curling and Waving Dries Life from Hair

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, leaving it dry, faded, brittle and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

GIRLS, USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juices of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be brought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Give your pipe a chance!

SOME pipes were "born with two strikes on 'em." Just never had a chance to offer their best. You can judge your pipe only by the tobacco you put in it. If you haven't smoked P. A., your pipe hasn't had its chance. To those men who know the keenest pipe-enjoyment, Prince Albert stands out like a beacon of cheer on a moonless night.

Prince Albert has put pipes into the mouths of more men than any other tobacco that ever came down the pike . . . and has kept them there! Because no other tobacco is like P. A. Cool and fragrant as mountain air murmuring through the pines. Sweet as the breath of spring.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. won't bite your tongue or parch your throat, because the Prince Albert process cut out bite and parch right at the outset of P. A.'s brilliant career. This means that you can hit it up with your jimmy-pipe and P. A. from the minute breakfast is over until you nestle down between the sheets at night. You not only can, but will!

If you're looking for proof, you needn't search beyond the nearest shop where they hand out smoke-gladdness in tidy red tins marked "Prince Albert." Give your pipe a chance. Pack it with P. A. and light up. That first wonderful pull will tell you P. A. was simply made-to-order for you!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

TOO FAT? TOO THIN?

By J. J. Toedt, Director of Physical Education, Wilson Ave. Dept., Y. M. C. A., Chicago.
XIII. THE DOUBLE KICK
The Double Kick is a rest exercise; but that does not mean that it is not beneficial.
Position: Lying on chest, legs straight, arms bent, hands resting on floor near chest.
Exercise: Kick yourself.
The position is much the same as that for the Abdominal Muscle Stretch, except for the hands, which are placed on the floor beside your chest. Flex both legs quickly and kick yourself. You may not succeed in touching the buttocks the first time, but if you will keep at it your leg muscles will limber up so that you can. Continue the movement for twenty-four counts.

In classifying this as a rest exercise, we mean that it helps to change the circulation after the more strenuous movements. The next exercises will be of a similar nature. It is called the Alternate Kick.

MILK For The Baby

Pure Milk Means
Healthy Babies!

Pure Milk Is Essential In the Proper Development of Children

The most important thing in the world for the baby is raw milk. It is the perfect raw material out of which he builds body, bone and sinew, the brain and heart and hand which will serve him through all the years to come. It is the one that gives him everything he needs.

Thousands of babies have grown to sturdy maturity on Dairy Products Standard Milk and Special Baby Milk.

The Special Baby Milk is milk from a herd of tuberculin-tested Jersey cows. These cows are magnificent animals, big and vital, and their milk is endowed by nature with a peculiar power to make baby's body grow. Dairy Products Special Baby Milk is worth its extra cost.

Mothers! Protect Your Children

Milk builds sturdy bodies, ruddy with the glow of health. It fosters growth. It builds red blood, strong bones, lusty sinews. It gives stamina for play, and for the serious tasks of school days.

It is the sacred right of your children to be as strong and healthy as science and knowledge can make them. Give them milk! There is nothing can take its place! Nothing ever has. Nothing ever will.

MISS NEVILLE —OF THE— GAZETTE REPUBLICAN

Was enthusiastic in her praise of the high quality of all our dairy products which were used exclusively during four days of the school. Our products are always the same—always the best.

VEGETABLES
Spread peanut butter on both sides of one or two inch slice of smoked ham, place in cooker and cover with milk and three tablespoons of solid shortening. When it begins to thicken add one cup finely chopped celery, one cup shredded cabbage, ½ green pepper, two slices pimento, ½ teaspoonful salt, ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ teaspoon paprika, two tablespoonsful vinegar or lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. Set to harden. Serve with the following dressing.
1 cup whipped cream to which 3 tablespoons of French dressing has been added.

FRUIT MOUSSE LAYER CAKE
2 egg whites
1 cake
½ pint double cream
Any fruit desired
1 teaspoon jello
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Method
Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream and add sugar, vanilla extract and lemon jello that has been dissolved in 2 tablespoons of hot water; then add nuts. Lastly, fold in the beaten egg whites. Cut cake about ¾ inch thick and cover bottom of pan. Put in a layer of any fruit desired and on top spread the mousse. Put in bottom ice tray of Frigidaire and let freeze for from 3 to 4 hours. Wednesdays Menu

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD
Any fruits may be used. The following are suggested. If canned fruits are used, pour off the juices.

½ cup cream (whipped)

Method
Remove the pulp from the orange and grapefruit, discarding all membrane and stone the canned cherries. Cut all of the fruit into small cubes and mix with a highly seasoned mayonnaise; whip the cream and fold lightly into the mixture. This may be poured into one of the pans or may be packed into small molds and placed in the freezing pan for about four hours. The latter method provides uniform portions. When served on lettuce with a small mound of mayonnaise on top this is an exceptionally pretty dish, which will serve six to eight persons and is a salad and dessert in one. Do not allow this to remain in frididaire too long, as the fruit becomes very hard and icy.

The modern method of hanging prepared for Gerald Chapman is illustrated in this artist's sketch, drawn from a description by persons who had examined the mechanism. The warden (on left) steps on a treadle, which releases a spring, dropping a 300-pound weight and jerking the condemned man to the ceiling, from which he drops, making certain the neck is broken.

The Theatre

Xenians who are eagerly following chapters of "Padlocked," Rex Beach's gripping novel in a current magazine will be glad to know that it is being filmed by Lasky, under Allan Dwan's direction.

Lola Moran, Noah Berry and Florence Turner, are at work on early sequences of the picture. Allan Simpson is also scheduled to take part in the picture.

We imagine Lola Moran will take the part of "Edith" the heroine of the story. She has an individual screen charm and should be well suited to the part. She has been signed by Famous Players-Lasky on a long-term contract.

Remember when Henry B. Waltham was the "Little Colonel" and Lillian Gish was one of the outstanding characters in "The Birth of a Nation"? Well, after being separated for a number of years, the two will be re-united in "The Scarlet Letter," to be released soon.

PRESIDENT CREDITS PRESS FOR CORDIAL STATUS OF AMERICAS

Newspapers Praised At Journalistic Meet
Wednesday

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The press of North and South America are responsible for the future of Pan-American cordiality, President Coolidge told the Pan-American Congress of Journalism at their first meeting here today.

Regretting the "unfortunate lack of information" which has existed in the newspapers of the two continents concerning conditions in the other continent, the President foresaw a strong and lasting bond in the improvement and expansion of news services operating through the Americas and predicted a perfect understanding between the new nationalities of this hemisphere through the medium of the press.

"Some one has remarked that there was a time when readers of our newspapers here might have imagined that revolutions and volcanic disturbances were the chief product of Latin-America," President Coolidge declared.

"On the other hand the readers of Latin-American papers got little idea of our national life from the accounts of train wrecks, lynchings and divorces, which it is said constituted the principal news printed there about our country."

"That day has passed. Since 1916, due to our increased cable facilities and the reduction of cable tolls, as well as a keen desire for more information, the amount of news exchanged between the Americas has been increased greatly, and its character is more constructive."

"I venture the prediction that as a result of this congress the papers in the United States in the future will present more complete and more accurate pictures of the cultural and industrial progress of Latin-America and that the press of those republics will give to their readers a better understanding of the ideals and purposes of the United States."

The President praised the South American press, declaring that "approached a university" for its great amount of service in cultural and scientific endeavors.

Throughout the address the President upheld the rights of free speech and a free press.

"A free and enlightened press becomes one of the safeguards of liberty," he declared. "It is the function of a free press not only to make truth available to every one within its sphere, but to cherish and develop a public sentiment for all that is loyal to the truth."

The address ended with an expression of hope that the congress would become a permanent institution.

"The first congress was a fine idea," he said. "I hope it will achieve all that its promoters could wish. It seems to me it would be well if your gathering could be repeated periodically, possibly alternating between Latin-America and the United States. Such meetings cannot fail to have far-reaching consequences."

The President spoke highly of educational and cultural progress in Latin America and also of development of commercial relations between North and South America.

Beautiful Gudren Paulson, known as "the perfect blond," who arrived in America from Iceland five years ago, a poor orphan, became the bride of Gregory N. Camp, millionaire New York society youth, whom she met while posing at the Yale University art school.

MODERNISTS WIN MAYORALTY RACE

CLARENCE, Mo., April 7.—Modernists elected their candidate, J. C. Maupin, in a majority election here in which the virgin birth of Christ was an issue.

The fundamentalist candidate, L. J. Peterman, drew only 255 votes to his opponent's 365. Maupin, formerly a Baptist minister, aroused intense feeling when he announced during the campaign that he was a modernist. The election was one of the most fiercely contested, the town has ever seen.

Peterman, a retired farmer, was advanced because of his conservative, fundamentalist views.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT PROBE EXTENDS TO OTHER COMPANIES

COLUMBUS, April 7.—The state insurance department's investigation of the Great American Mutual Indemnity company of Mansfield, extended to two subsidiaries today with prospects that both will be taken over for liquidation.

The subsidiaries are the Great American Agency Company, Cleveland and the Great American Management Company, Mansfield, officers of which have been ordered by the Franklin county court of appeals to appear to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued against them.

POLICE SEEKING "RADIO RAFFLES"

NEW YORK, April 7.—The largest force of police ever assigned to the Borough of Queens has patrolled the streets there for the last 24-hours in a vain effort to find trace of the "Radio Raffles," described as an "absolutely fearless gentlemanly burglar."

The robber, who is credited with the theft of scores of radio sets and jewelry within recent weeks, has become a killer.

Policeman Arthur Kenny, one of the four policemen shot by the burglar in his night prowling, is dead from wounds sustained on March twenty-fifth.

The other wounded patrolmen were Jacob Beigler, Frank Donnelly and Charles McCarthy.

In each shooting the burglar, who was soft spoken and well dressed, disarmed the suspicion of the officer before firing a bullet.

SAYS PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT NOT TRIED IN NEW YORK

Jurymen Bribe To Thwart Justice Says
Attorney

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 7.—Prohibition enforcement has never been attempted in New York, Federal District Attorney Buckner told the senate subcommittee today.

"I don't know whether prohibition could be enforced in New York," Buckner said. "Judicial procedure is such that it cannot be tried now."

It was a startling picture he painted of conditions in the metropolis. He charged that "fixers" were trafficking in justice openly in the federal building in New York.

"In the course of a year at least 50,000 bartenders, peddlers, waiters and fixers pass through the corridors of that building," he added.

"There is an air of collusion there, even in the civil parts of the building."

"I have been told that jurymen have been bribed in the toilets of the building."

"What do you mean by fixers?" Reed, Democrat, Missouri, asked.

"I mean those who traffic in justice; those who hang around the corridors of the building and buy jurymen and with money influence the memory of witnesses," Buckner severely criticized the system whereby prohibition agents were promoted according to the number of arrests they made—whether they were good arrests or not.

"Such a system for the promotion of inefficiency cannot be equalled," Buckner said.

The police commissioner in New York is receiving 15,000 complaints a month—180,000 complaints a year—from citizens against violation of the prohibition law, Buckner said.

"They are mostly from neighbors," he said. "They cannot be overlooked. But it takes a lot of men to investigate them."

The committee held a whispered conference at this point and decided that night sessions should be held beginning tonight to permit the wets to present their case.

Buckner said that 9,000 unhandled cases were pending when he took office and 3,000 were prohibition cases. The calendar was two years behind," he said.

Buckner did not originate the padlock system. There were 200 or 300 cases pending at the time he took office.

"I think it is better to padlock a restaurant or a place of business instead of arresting a waiter," Buckner said. "Thirteen months we have padlocked more than five hundred places of all kinds."

CLEVELAND, O., April 7.—Federal Judge Westenhaver today announced the appointment of William J. Laub, as U. S. Commissioner at Akron.

DAVIS SAID TO BE CANDIDATE

Rumor Ex-Governor Will Again Seek Republican Nomination—Knight Also Expected To Toss Hat In Ring

COLUMBUS, O., April 7.—Political circles moved cautiously today, co-incidental with persistent rumors that former governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, will become a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Of no less importance to dominant political sachems, was the announcement that former Congressman Charles L. Knight of Akron, also will announce his candidacy for the nomination.

Both Davis and Knight were in Columbus today, the former, conferring with political supporters and the latter on a similar mission—but ostensibly preparing to announce his candidacy.

Davis was quoted by those in close touch with him, as saying that he believed he could win the nomination and be elected, but that he is not inclined at this time to enter the race.

Some of his followers placed credence in the report that Davis will align with some other outstanding candidate in an effort to dictate who shall be the party nominee.

As to Knight's candidacy, it is only a matter of days until his candidacy is formally announced, it was believed.

The way to Knight's candidacy, it was pointed out, has been cleared by withdrawal of Carmi Thompson, of Cleveland, who will head a Coolidge mission to the Philippine Islands.

The only obstacle the Akron publisher now faces, it was said, is the concerted opposition of other Republican gubernatorial aspirants or the opposition of machines that may combine to bring about his defeat.

Davis, political observers declare, is prepared to launch an intensive obstructionist campaign against the Knight forces should he (Davis) decide against running for the nomination.

Political leaders, with no exception, scoffed at the possibility that Davis and Knight might align and through their alliance put a strong candidate into the field.

Davis conferred with his supporters behind closed doors, last night according to semi-official reports circulated about the state house.

Should Davis definitely decide to enter the field in opposition against the gubernatorial race, he to Frank B. Willis, for the senatorial nomination, it was declared.

EDITOR ACQUITTED OF CHARGE; JUDGE'S DECISION SURPRISE

Mencken Vindicated After Court Reads
Article

By United Press
BOSTON, April 7.—H. L. Mencken, editor of the American Mercury, was vindicated today when Judge William Parmenter returned a verdict of not guilty on charges of selling literature tending to corrupt the morals of the young.

The judge's decision, announced after a perusal of the alleged immoral "Hatrack" article in the Mercury, came as a surprise to the comparatively few persons who had gone to the courtroom to hear Mencken's "fate."

Mencken had expected a verdict of guilty. In announcing his decision, Judge Parmenter said:

"The question which I have to decide is whether the article entitled 'Hatrack' is indecent. The magazine is quite obviously printed for the intelligent classes and is so devised as to have a particular appeal to those classes."

"I cannot imagine a child or any other person whom it might offend, buying this expensive magazine. I find no offense has been committed and I find the defendant not guilty."

The Rev. J. Frank Chase, secretary of Watch and Ward Society, who instigated the suppression of the April number of the Mercury, did not appear.

"The decision was a surprise to me," Mencken told the United Press as he left the courtroom. "In fact I was so surprised, I was speechless. I am sorry Mr. Chase of the Watch and Ward Society was not there to hear it. The fact that we are looking for him with a subpoena in connection with our federal court action, may probably have kept him away."

"You know its barely possible that he's sorry he started this thing. We are not through with him and his Watch and Ward Society. We have good lawyers and when we hit we're going to hit hard."

Mencken came here Monday and got himself arrested by selling a copy of the banned Mercury to Rev. Chase. A $50,000 damage suit which the editor has filed against Rev. Chase, the Watch and Ward Society and a group of news dealers is still pending in federal court here.

CLEVELAND, O., April 7.—Subpoenas ordering Former Justice of the Peace Basil H. Ayer, of Mayfield Heights and his clerk to appear before the grand jury in connection with Prosecutor Edward Stanton's investigation of Cuyahoga County justice courts, were issued today.

Stanton, who recently caused Ayer to submit his resignation, declared the former justice has refused, in compliance with an order of the court, to submit his books and records for an examination and added that Ayer will be required to divulge their contents before the grand jury.

Ayer and other Cuyahoga County justices have been charged with alleged extortion and other offenses in the operations of their courts.

OHIO SOLON DENIES ACCIDENT BLAME

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Rep. William T. Fitzgerald of Greenville sued for $50,000 damages by Chas. R. Smith, Jr., an eight year old boy because of an auto accident, denied responsibility in an answer filed in court here today.

The boy through his attorneys alleged the congressman was driving on the wrong side of the street near the house office building, February 6, when the machine struck the boy's wagon, dragging him about sixty feet.

Fitzgerald declared in his answer he had just dodged a group of children who were playing on the street when the Smith lad in his wagon scooted down a driveway leading from the house office building and ran under his car.

The death of Miss Stella Lubin, seventeen, of New York, from natural causes shortly after she attended a party with Edward W. Browning, the "Cinderella Man," and his newest companion, Miss Frances Heenan, fifteen, celebrating the birthday of the singer, Beniamino Gigli, is the latest touch of misfortune to follow Browning's path as a benefactor of young girls.

XENIANS HURT WHEN THREE AUTOS CRASH ALONG DAYTON PIKE

Misses Lena Bales and Ruth Arment Cut—
Probe Starts

Two persons were injured and seven others shaken up in a triple auto collision on the bridge west of L. W. Duellman's filling station at Rest Haven Park, on the Dayton and Xenia Pike Tuesday night at 9 o'clock.

Miss Lena Bales, Hook Road, sustained cuts on both legs and a dislocated finger on her left hand, while Miss Ruth Arment, Chestnut St., was cut about the face and legs.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughn investigated with Special Deputy Sheriff Oliver Belden. They said the accident occurred when a touring car driven by Benjamin Park, 127 S. Horton St., Dayton, sideswiped a machine driven by Robert Fletcher, colored, 631 Randolph St., Dayton, and then crashed headlong into a sedan driven by Miss Bales.

The Park auto was being driven toward Dayton and the Fletcher car, occupied by three men and one woman, all colored and the Bales car were headed toward Xenia.

Park, his wife and young son, and occupants of the Fletcher car also escaped injury although the three machines were partially wrecked.

Miss Bales and Miss Arment were treated at the filling station, by a physician summoned from Dayton, and were afterwards removed to their homes by Deputy Sheriff Baughn. Their conditions are not serious.

Drivers of the three automobiles are scheduled to appear at the sheriff's office sometime Wednesday for questioning by Deputy Baughn, in an effort to fix blame for the accident.

An arrest may follow.

Mrs. Marie Bayer, Newark, N. J., sister of Bowman's first wife (who was then known as Lesser) today disclosed how Bowman courted her sister in another fast and furious courtship.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO MURDER PREMIER AT SURGEONS' MEETING

Bullet Penetrates Cartilage Of Nose Of Victim

By United Press
ROME, April 7.—Premier Mussolini was shot and slightly wounded by an aged woman today as he left the city hall, where he had addressed the congress of the International Surgeons Association.

The bullet penetrated the cartilage of the premier's nose.

Leaving from the crowd which had gathered to see the premier depart, the woman fired at short range. The crowd surged forward to seize her, but she was saved from summary punishment and was placed in jail.

The premier maintained his composure and immediately gave orders to prevent public commotion as a result of the attempt against his life. A large crowd had gathered around the building to see the premier depart, and the would-be assassin was among them.

Mussolini has been the object of would-be assassins plots since October 1922, when he organized and led the spectacular fascist march on Rome, which unseated the existing government and placed Mussolini in office as Premier.

Mussolini erected a Fascist state. In the creation of his new government, Mussolini found bitter opposition and in the early days the rise of fascism was marked with continued violence. Fascist opponents were attacked and beaten. The approved fascist manner of convincing a politician that opposition was useless was to seize him, force a large dose of castor oil down his throat and then parade him through the streets.

Last autumn Mussolini was in the shadow of death from a plotter's bullet. He was scheduled to speak from the balcony of the Chigi Palace, and on the morning of his appearance a former army officer engaged a room in a hotel across the square. A few hours before Mussolini appeared on a balcony in full view from the window of the hotel room, police entered the hotel, arrested the officer and seized an Austrian equipped with telescope sights.

The officer confessed. He had been betrayed by a peasant whom he had entrusted with his secret. The trial and virtual acquittal last month of Americo D'Annunzio and four other fascists charged with the murder in June, 1924, of the socialist deputy Giacomo Matteotti, re-aroused the opposition clamor against Mussolini's repression.

Matteotti died while a captive in the automobile in the five fas cists on the eve of a speech in the chamber of deputies, in which he had planned to launch a powerful attack against fascism.

Three defendants were sentenced to terms in prison which will expire in June and the other two were acquitted. Matteotti's widow refused to have anything to do with the trial, because she said it would not be fairly conducted.

Mussolini's opponents outside Italy prophesied when the Matteotti verdicts were announced that they would be the death knell of fascism in Italy.

COMMON ERRORS IN GRAMMAR ARE TOLD XENIA KIWANIS

Common grammatical mistakes in speaking and writing were pointed out to Xenia Kiwanians by the Rev. Father B. F. Kuhlman, D.D., at the Godey Shoppe, Tuesday evening.

"Mastering English," was the Rev. Father Kuhlman's subject and he stressed the importance of using proper grammar. He deplored the diffidence of Americans in their choice of English and their hesitancy in setting the right phrases. He recommended the Coda course, "Excellence in English" and daily perusal of new papers. "Newspaper writers have a larger vocabulary than the ordinary writer and their writings can be helpful in learning concise English," he said.

The speaker commended the Bible, both the King James' version and the Rheims version in correct phrasing and beautiful wording. Moulton's "The Bible as Literature," was also cited as a guide in writing and talking.

The Rev. Father Kuhlman pointed out the advantages in the development of expression. The movies and the vaudeville stage were particularly harmful to correct grammar, he said. This is true because they take much of many people's time from the leisure in which they could read and improve their vocabulary.

Growth of profanity in ordinary

conversation was deplored by the speaker.

Report of the Dayton Kiwanis meeting attended by several Xenia club members was given by C. E. Arbogast. Announcement was made of "Ladies' Night," April 20 when the club will entertain twenty Springfield Kiwanians and their friends at dinner and dance at Central High School. The party will be one of the largest on the club program for the year.

This will be the central theme of the three general meetings of the conference and the sessions of twenty-nine specialized groups.

"Up to a recent time the teacher obtained his training while teaching," President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State, observed in his welcome to the conference. WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attention she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son.

WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas. Mary goes with Will to spend the week-end with his brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Virginia Crandall. Old Mr. Crandall is taken ill, and Will and Jim return to town. Mary goes to the beach with Virginia and there meets Celia again. Mary hears from Pat Hamilton, who says that if she will do some stenographic work for him she can cancel her debt to him. She returns to New York.

TODAY'S INSALMENT

XL—THE TANGLE GROWS WORSE

MARY smiled happily to herself as she settled down in the train that was to take her back to New York. She could have shouted with joy when she realized that she was going to be able to pay the money she owed him a little more through her own efforts. She felt sure that Will's father would recover—somehow, now, with things going so well, he just couldn't do anything else!

And then she and Will would be married, and Will's parents would accept her, as they had accepted his brother's wife, finally, and everything would be wonderful! Her own happiness made her feel more confident every moment.

When she reached town she hurried to her own rooming house and telephoned Pat Hamilton.

"Oh, you're in town now? Fine—I didn't think you could get here so soon," he answered. "Come right up to my hotel, will you? I'm all ready to go to work. Just ask for my room—I'll tell them at the desk that I'm expecting you."

Mary did not like the idea of going to his room at the hotel; she had never done such a thing as that, and she was embarrassed now at the thought of doing so. But this was business, she reminded herself. No doubt he had a suite of rooms, and transacted all his work there. And, of course, in New York it was an accepted thing for a girl to go to a man's apartment—she remembered hearing someone tell of some girls they knew who were housewives, who interviewed people just anywhere.

"I'm squeamish, I suppose," Mary said to herself. "I've been brought up to be an old-fashioned girl, and I've just got to get used to new ways of doing things. I'll be all right."

Nevertheless she felt very nervous as she walked into the hotel lobby and asked if Mr. Patrick Hamilton was in.

"Oh, yes, he's here—number 1104," the man at the desk answered. "Are you Miss Waite? You can go right up, then—he's expecting you."

Mary blushed hotly. She wished that she had given an assumed name, had asked Hamilton not to tell the man at the desk who she was. Not that anybody knew her, of course—but she'd rather nobody knew she was going there!

Hamilton greeted her warmly. "Glad to see you again!" he exclaimed. "Now, tell me what you won't understand that I just have to earn money when I can—that I absolutely had to let Mr. Hamilton lend money to me—he just won't understand!"

"You mustn't call him!"

She walked restlessly about the room, while he went on talking over the telephone. At last he turned to her—"I've had nothing to eat all day—had a headache and couldn't eat," he said. "Now, before we get to work I'll have to have some supper sent up here. Sorry to detain you so long—"

"Oh, I just can't wait any longer here!" Mary cried. "I thought you wanted me to do some work for you at once, but you don't, and Will—"

She hadn't meant to mention Will's name, was sorry the moment she spoke it that she had. Pat Hamilton turned to her sharply.

"Oh, it's Will, is it? Well, I'll call him up and tell him—"

"No, you won't call him—you mustn't!" Mary cried, and as he reached for the phone she threw both arms around him to prevent his moving. "You mustn't call Will up—I don't want you to."

Hamilton stared at her in amazement, then began to laugh softly. "Afraid I'll give him information you don't want him to have? Really, Mary, you're amusing. So you're after young Crandall—"

"I'm not! Will and I are engaged, but I don't want him to know that I let you lend me money," she answered bitterly. "I can earn it and pay you back, but I just don't want to tell him that's all."

Hamilton, still laughing, walked over to the window. "Well, if I tell him you won't have to," he answered.

When the demon Rust enters, it's "good bye fence"! Quality of steel and manufacturer's claims have no effect on this active enemy.

Hence the care that is devoted to the galvanizing of Kokomo Pioneer Fence—to keep rust out. The most modern, the most approved methods are used and the heavy coating is 99 1/2 per cent pure zinc.

That means protection. That means Rust, which eats the life out of steel, can not enter to "do its dirt." You are assured of a GOOD fence for a longer period of time than you ever thought possible.

PLAINTIFF IN DAMAGE ACTION RESTS CASE WEDNESDAY IN COURT

Plaintiff's counsel rested its case shortly before the noon recess Wednesday in the $5,000 damage suit of Marshall William A. Schneider, Osborn, against Constable Sidney M. Cornelius, Bath Twp., being tried in Common Pleas Court.

First of seven witnesses subpoenaed by the defendant testified late Wednesday morning. Following arguments to the jury, the trial was expected to end late in the afternoon, with the outcome in the hands of four women and eight men jurors.

Twenty witnesses for the marshal were heard Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Marshall Schneider testified Tuesday afternoon giving his own version of the election day encounter between himself and the constable last November 3, which resulted in his own arrest, dismissal of charges against the Cornelius family and the damage suit.

His testimony was the feature of the afternoon session which was otherwise devoid of interest. The trouble between the pair was once more aired in court, only this time with positions reversed—plaintiff enacting the role of defendant with Cornelius the defendant.

The marshal repeated his story told at the recent trial at which he was acquitted of a charge of resisting an officer. He entered a blanket denial to previous accusations of resisting the constable's efforts to arrest two men for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

He also claimed to have been roughly handled in the quarrel by Cornelius.

The marshal was later subjected to a grilling cross-examination for an hour by Attorney Morris D. Rice, city solicitor of the village of Osborn, and associated with At-

SCENIC WONDERLAND

For the preservation of the primeval Great Smoky mountains on the border line of Tennessee and North Carolina as a national park and public playground these two states have raised more than $1,000,000 and will ask the rest of the country to aid them in securing the $4,000,000 balance of the purchase price. If these virgin forests and unmapped mountains can be purchased by public subscription the federal government will maintain them and open them, through the means of good roads, to the general public.

Saving of the Great Smokies has inspired numerous articles in recent issues of magazines and reviews, one of them describing these mountains as "the last of the eastern wilderness." If not made public property within the next few years this "last wilderness" will vanish like the others before the onslaught of the lumberman's axe.

Until about ten years ago Great Smokies were virtually unknown. Within the black depths of its forests there are gulfs and gorges never visited by man. Even the mountain-eater squatter in the foothills does not roam these peaks and ridges, mysteriously vague behind the haze from which they derive their name. Seven of the capital peaks, all higher than any in the Blue Ridge mountains, are still unnamed and large areas of the range have never been surveyed.

As a national park the Great Smokies are destined to become as famous and popular as the Yellowstone, Yosemite and other great national reservations. The East now has but one national park, Lafayette National Park on Mt. Desert Island on the coast of Maine, but its park system will rival that of the West with the addition of the proposed Shenandoah park in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia and of the Great Smokies.

PREMEDITATION

IF A MAN kills in a fit of anger or sudden outburst of rage, under the laws of most states that is murder in the second degree. If the slaying was deliberate and premeditated, that is first degree murder, and carries a different penalty.

The law recognizes distinctions in crimes and in circumstances surrounding them. The crime is assumed to be worse if it is planned and considered beforehand.

By the same token a distinction should be made between kinds of good deeds. There is the generous action done with a flourish, on the spur of the moment, without thinking of consequences. There is also the noble act consummated after deliberation and thought, which often requires courage and strength of mind.

Good deeds are not yet made amendable to law, but observers of the human comedy might try to discriminate among them nevertheless. They are of several kinds, and circumstances are of many sorts.

COUNTING THE MERCHANTS

THE setting up of permanent machinery for the purpose of promoting a census of distribution, similar to a census of manufacturers, has been authorized by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The task will be undertaken by a special committee, of which Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board of the General Electric Company, is chairman and F. M. Feiker, of the Society for Electrical Development, is vice-chairman. The personnel of the committee will be virtually the same as that which considered the same subject for the National Distribution Conference.

The committee will take up the question with the Department of Commerce and other government agencies as a first step. With a few changes in existing census schedules, it is believed, the necessary information can be obtained.

The move reflects the changing attitude of business toward its activities. Hitherto attention has been centered upon production. Much is known of manufacturing but little information is available concerning distribution, and this information is necessary to maintain the business equilibrium. How much is produced is only a partial answer to the question business is asking. It also wants to know, how much is sold or can be sold. To this end it wants a count of the merchants of the country together with information as to the amount of their sales comparable to the information, now available, concerning production.

BIG AMERICANS WANTED

THERE was nothing about him of the small American," said President Coolidge of George Washington, thus coining a new phrase which provides a standard by which we may measure public men and policies. Coolidge paid this tribute to the breadth of Washington's mind:

"No man clung more tenaciously to what he believed was right, or was prepared to make greater sacrifices in its support. But he viewed us right as a universal principle to be applied not only to himself but to others, not only to his own state, but to the nation, not only to his countrymen, but to foreigners."

He set a straight and narrow standard for our statesmen who feel inclined to exploit national or international problems for their personal aggrandizement, and thus brand themselves as "small Americans."

Too many of us seek laws for the special privilege and enrichment of our own states or sections of the country, lacking to see that the greatness of our Country arises from the common interest of all its people.

Washington stands as the greatest American, because he renounced the glory of a kingly crown to build a free republic on principles so sound and broad that we can stand before the world as an example for other nations, and help the world establish higher ideals for all humanity whenever there is opportunity.

powder and two teaspoons of granulated sugar. In another bowl I beat two egg yolks till light, then add to them two cups of cold, sweet milk. I stir this liquid mixture into the dry mixture, and beat till very smooth. Then I add four heaping tablespoons of butter melted (measured before melting) and once again beat smooth. Last—just before I am ready to use the batter in the iron—I fold in two stiffly-whipped egg whites.

The standard size round waffle iron will require three or four tablespoons of this batter to make one waffle. Place the batter in the center of the iron (don't try to spread it toward the rim, as it will do this by itself) and quickly shut the upper half down. Don't be alarmed if it steams a little. There is a spring beneath the hinge at the back which permits the top part to rise slightly as the baking powder and egg cause the waffle batter to rise. To be done to a delicate brown will probably take about two minutes by the clock, if the iron is very hot when you put the batter into it. Close the iron and let reheat for a few seconds after you remove a waffle, before putting more batter into it. I remove my waffles with two forks. I never grease my iron. When I wish to remove crisped bits of waffle left-overs from it, I use one of the stiff-bristled wire brushes sold at any five-and-ten cent store.

LETTER WRITING

The modern letter writing style Saves time and care and money. Your business man lacks space to file Epistles sad or funny: And when I write to Dick and Co., I waste no thought in levity, I ask them what I wish to know Politely, but with brevity; But now and then with pen and ink

For friends I honor greatly I like to tell them all I think And all that's happened lately. I like to let my phrases flow As though we were out walking. Two friends who'd found an hour or so To spend in idle talking. I like to wander here and there Wherever fancy leads me And gather something everywhere To interest him who reads me. I like to set a chuckle in To dull the edge of worry, And let him know as I begin That I'm not in a hurry.

These business letters short and terse Blurt out their missions briefly. I know no form of writing worse. 'Tis done for dollars chiefly; They seem like men intent on gain, Too busy to be kindly, Deaf to a shout of joy or pain And passing beauty blindly;

THE PRAYER OF ONE DISTURBED

Like the leader in a frightened flock, with the clouds gathering fast and the day darkening, and the wind growing furious—that is the way I feel, God, and so I have rushed to You who are able and full of understanding. Gather me to You in Your strong arms, God. Nobody is around—just You and Your creation. I am so disturbed. This impulsive makeup has overstepped itself. In its anxiety to climb just a little higher, do a little more good, find a little more beauty, it ran too fast—and so now it's all mixed up—frightened like the troubled sheep.

But, like the Shepherd of the sheep, whose soul is always stronger than the instinct of the dumb which He tends, please, God, pay attention to me! Soothe with Your understanding, warm with Your sympathy, lift up with Your love. You see, God, I really need You more than I even know myself.

For the frightened never quite realize their danger. If they did, they might be braver. But, being confused, and much lost to themselves, they flounder, and then have to run to someone who is strong enough to bring them back to themselves—and place them upon higher ground. Don't You see, God? And don't You see that this plea is the one who needs so greatly?

Press me just a trifle tighter to Your heart, God. Let me feel the impulse of Your superior spirit. Quiet this throbbing pulse, and give sleep to these restless nerves.

TWO FAMOUS WOMEN BORN IN SAME YEAR

Queen Victoria and Lydia E. Pinkham

Marshall, Illinois.—"After my second child was born, I never saw a well day for five years. My father was telling his druggist about my condition, and the druggist insisted that father take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have me try it, as it had helped his wife. I had given up, but to please father and mother, I commenced taking your medicine and in a week I had begun to feel better. When I passed through the Change of Life, I was taking the Vegetable Compound and I had no trouble of any kind."—Mrs. ANNA MC HENRY, 1005 E. Plum St., Marshall, Illinois.

Another Woman Helped

Philadelphia, Penna.—Mrs. Caroline Nagy, of 2717 Sears St., in a recent letter to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., says that after her child was born she was in a very weak condition. She could not seem to regain her health and went to her mother for advice. She told her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it had helped her when in like condition, and it has helped her mother also. So Mrs. Nagy started taking it. She felt better after taking the first bottle, after taking six bottles her weakness and other troubles disappeared, and she is never doing as well as she is now.

In some families the fourth generation is learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Modish Mitzi-Studies of a Zoological or a Fashionable Nature? BY J.W. JAY

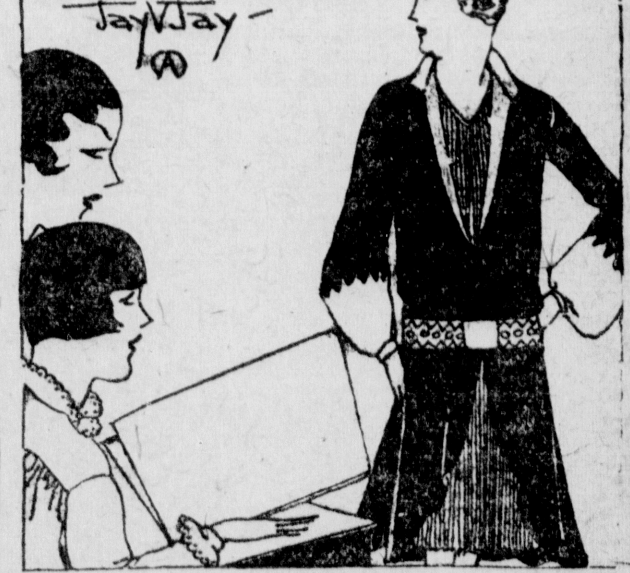

"What's this?" asks Mitzi's young friend thirsting for knowledge, as she looks through her animal book. "That," replies Mitzi, "is a lizard. You know... a lizard... just like the skin that makes my pocket book and the handle of my umbrella." The child, it seems, is getting a lesson in fashion rather than zoology.

"Is it a snake?" inquires the Young Mind. "Cobra! It's a cobra, and it's used to make shoes out of, like the ones Polly wears," points out Mitzi showing that she knows how to talk to children. She's heard about object lessons before. Polly, of course, wears the new Oxford parchment colored cobra skin shoes.

"An alligator," forestalls Mitzi, "is a long animal, very fashionable this season and mostly used for shoes. I have a new pair right here." "Oh, oh," says the child, "oh." Which is perhaps just as good a comment as any for a child who is brought up after the most modern methods of education.

Aunt Sophia is really surprised that Mitzi is getting on so well with the youngsters. She seems to be able to talk to children. "Now a gnu," explains Mitzi, "is the shade of Aunt Sophia's stockings! It's a new shade." Which shows that Mitzi knows about the fashioning the Young Mind with the association of ideas—and up-to-date ones at that!

SWEDISH STUDENTS WIN HUGE FORTUNE BY NEW INVENTION

STOCKHOLM (UP) April 7.—The happy idea of combining two simple gases in a new kind of artificial refrigerator which generates cold from heat without movable parts has made two young graduates of the Royal Swedish Institute of Technology seem like heroes of a tale from the Arabian Nights.

Last year the Swedish Polhem gold medal, which has been awarded to inventors only eleven times in the past fifty years, was pinned on the Crown Prince himself for the youthful chests of Carl G. Munter and Baltzar von Platen, the first born in 1897 and the second in 1898, and now their invention has been sold abroad for the highest figure ever paid for patent rights.

The statures of the two young inventors, added to future royal ties, will make them wealthy for life, though their invention has not yet reached the public. Their teacher at the Institute of Technology, Prof. Edward Hubendick, in whose laboratory they experimented with their first invention while still undergraduates, has announced that they are working on another invention which he declares will be even more startling, but he refuses to disclose its nature.

FORMER XENIAN IS VISITING RELATIVE

After an absence of eighteen years, C. W. Galligher, of Colorado Springs, Colo., former Xenian, is in Xenia for a few days for a short visit with his father-in-law, J. Hal Matthews, W. Main St.

Mr. Galligher is stopping in Xenia on his return from Toledo, O., where he participated in the American Bowling Congress in progress in that city. He was a member of the City of Sunshine quintet, of Colorado Springs, which placed sixth in the five-man division of the tournament with a three-game total of 2,857. More than 1,700 teams representing all parts of the country took part in the meet.

One member of the team also rolled more than 700 in the singles to place high in the individual standing.

The team is returning to its home city but expects to roll a number of exhibition matches on the trip. Mr. Galligher lived in Xenia all his life before moving away in 1908 but is well known to many Xenians.

Curling and Waving Dries Life from Hair

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

Pure Milk Means
Healthy Babies!

Pure Milk Is Essential In the Proper Development of Children

The most important thing in the world for the baby is raw milk. It is the perfect raw material out of which he builds body, bone and sinew, the brain and heart and hand which will serve him through all the years to come. It is the one that gives him everything he needs.

Thousands of babies have grown to sturdy maturity on Dairy Products Standard Milk and Special Baby Milk.

The Special Baby Milk is milk from a herd of tuberculin-tested Jersey cows.
These cows are magnificent animals, big and vital, and their milk is endowed by nature with a peculiar power to make baby's body grow. Dairy Products Special Baby Milk is worth its extra cost.

Mothers! Protect Your Children

Milk builds sturdy bodies, ruddy with the glow of health. It fosters growth. It builds red blood, strong bones, lusty sinews. It gives stamina for play, and for the serious tasks of school days.

It is the sacred right of your children to be as strong and healthy as science and knowledge can make them. Give them milk! There is nothing can take its place!
Nothing ever has. Nothing ever will.

The Machinery of Death

The modern method of hanging prepared for Gerald Chapman is illustrated in this artist's sketch, drawn from a description by persons who had examined the mechanism. The warden (on left) steps on a treadle, which releases a spring, dropping a 300-pound weight and jerking the condemned man to the ceiling, from which he drops, making certain the neck is broken.

The average personal income is $272 indicating that while few people are very rich few are very poor. Since 1912 both the average wealth and the average income have increased considerably.

The Theatre

Xenians who are eagerly following chapters of "Padlocked," Rex Beach's gripping novel in a current magazine will be glad to know that it is being filmed by Lasky, under Allan Dwan's direction.

Lots Moran, Noah Barry and Florence Turner, are at work on early sequences of the picture. Allan Simpson is also scheduled to take part in the picture.

We imagine Lots Moran will take the part of "Edith" the heroine of the story. She has an individual screen charm and should be well suited to the part. She has been signed by Famous Players-Lasky on a long-term contract.

Remember when Henry B. Walthall was the "Little Colonel" and Lillian Gish was one of the outstanding characters in "The Birth of a Nation"? Well, after being separated for a number of years, the two will be re-united in "The Scarlet Letter," to be released soon.
